EVENT REPORT

Name of Event: Expert lecture series in the area of “MongoDB”

Date of Event: 01st November 2023

Time of event: 10.00 am to 03.00pm

Name of Event Coordinator: Prof. Pranjali More

Name of resource Person/ Speaker (If Applicable): Prof. Sonali M. Sonavane

Target Audience with count: T.E. students of T.E. Computer

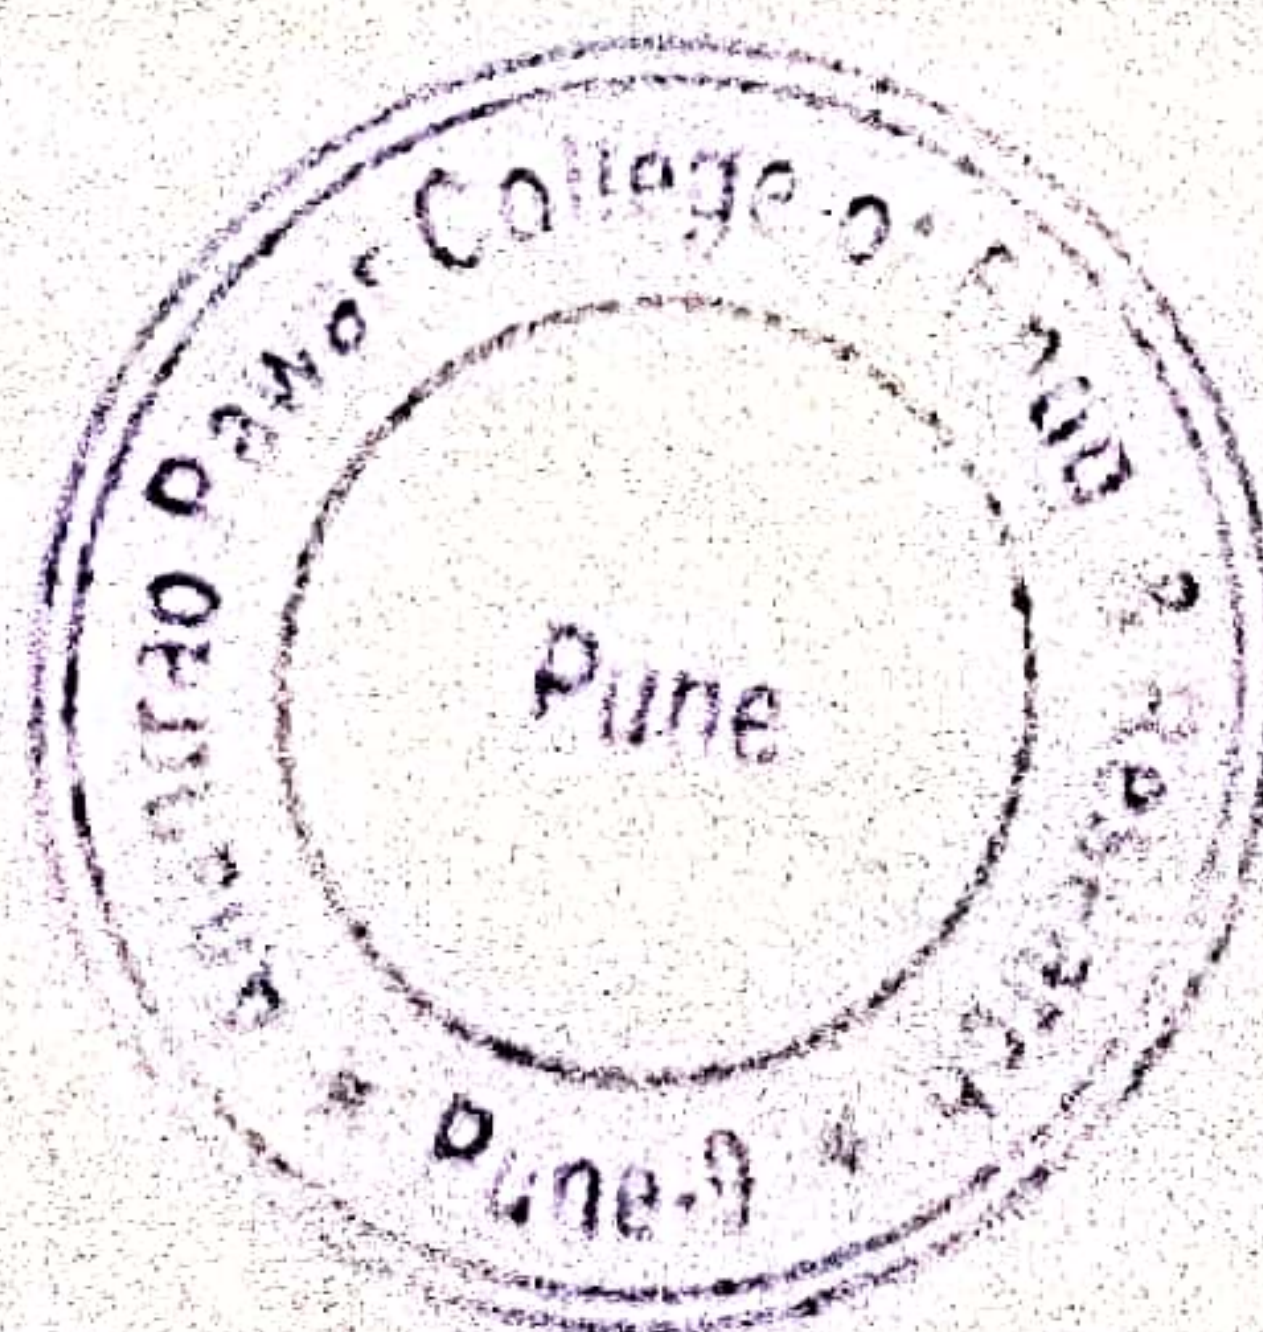

Students:

Brief Description of Event: Computer department had organized an expert lecture series in the area of “MongoDB” on 01st November 2023 for third year students of Computer branch. In this guest lecture the speaker discussed the different points on Mongo DB and its career options. She highlighted that MongoDB is much more than a database. It's a complete developer data platform. With MongoDB Atlas, the cloud offering by MongoDB, you have access to a collection of services that all integrate nicely with your database.

Students were convinced that MongoDB has grown in popularity because it's a tool built with developers in mind. It is easy to get started with MongoDB, and it offers many powerful features. It is also easy to install and manage.

The introductory session was followed by hands on session demonstrating few applications based on Mongo DB.
